ACTIVITY FOUR - PREPOSITIONS OF PLACE

Prepositions are words which relate one noun (or pronoun) to another, in time or space, such as "before" (school starts before 9 am), "with" (I went to the cinema with him), "by" (the house was destroyed by the earthquake) and so on.

Prepositions are very important in English, and their use is different from Catalan.

ACTIVITY TWO - WHO IS WHO IN THE FILM

Here, you have the pictures of the protagonists of the film. Re-read the plot and try to write the names.

ACTIVITY ONE - THE PLOT

Looking for an idea for his second book, a writer visits a famous Indian storyteller, Pi Patel, in Montreal, Canada. Patel has an amazing tale that will make the writer believe in God. Patel is delighted to tell his story.

He was born in India in the territory of Pondicherry. His father was a zoo owner and named his son Piscine Molitor after a swimming pool in France. Piscine is bullied at school with cries of "Pissing Patel", and he decides to change his name at "Pi", after the mathematical symbol. Religion fascinates Pi, an unusual child, and he decides to add Christianity and Islam to his family's Hindu faith. He is also fascinated by one of the zoo's animals, a Bengal tiger which, like him, has a strange name, "Richard Parker".

Economic and political problems push Pi's father into selling the zoo and deciding to emigrate to Canada, with his wife, Pi and Pi's elder brother, plus a number of animals. The 16-year-old Pi boards a Japanese cargo ship with his family and most importantly Richard Parker.

As the family queue for a meal in the ship's kitchen one day, the cook insults
